

Facebook Privacy and Security Settings: Step by Step

Your Profile>Edit Profile in Upper Right

Check all pages. Use "inline audience selector" to decide who can see the information.

Account Settings> Security

Enable secure browsing

Possibly: Enable login notifications (Email or SMS)

Account Settings> Notifications>Facebook

Do not check: Email Frequency: "Send me important updates and summary emails instead of individual notification emails"

Check:

Tags you on their profile

Tags you in a post

Says you are with them in a post

Account Settings> Notifications>Photos

Check:

Tags you in a photo

Tags you one of their photos

Check:

Tags you in a video

Tags you in one of their videos

Account Settings> Notifications>App Settings

Who can see posts and activity from this app:

Select "Only Me". (Unless you want people to know you are using an app).

Account Settings> Notifications>Facebook Ads

Edit third party ad settings: No one

Edit social adds setting: No one

Privacy Settings>Control Your Default Privacy

This setting will apply to status updates and photos you post to your profile from a Facebook app that doesn't have the inline audience selector, like Facebook for Blackberry.

Privacy Settings>How You Connect

Review all.

Privacy Settings>How Tags Work

Review all.

Privacy Settings>Apps and Websites

Review all.

Profile Page>Underneath Profile Picture>Subscriptions

<https://www.facebook.com/about/subscribe>

Discussion Topics

The status update box. "Inline Sharing": Controls are right next to what you share. Control as you go. Remembers your last setting.

Check the privacy settings of a person's status update or link BEFORE you comment or like.

How to be "offline".

Use Facebook in a different browser from your other activities.

Facebook's new emphasis on a "frictionless experience" means that users might want to read the fine print more closely than ever. Instead of thinking of authorizing an app as granting it "permission," social sharing will be posed as a positive part of an app itself — not a nuisance, like many of us likely imagine it. Authorize an app and it will operate in the background, sharing your activities across Facebook and shaping both your social profile through both the Ticker, the Timeline, and the News Feed.

What does subscribed mean?

Can you have friends unsubscribe from your comments and likes? Not really. <http://refurbishedlaptops1.blogspot.com/2011/09/facebook-subscribe-hoax.html>

Might want to delete some photos before Timeline is instituted.

Links

<http://www.socialmediaexaminer.com/five-facebook-changes-and-what-you-need-to-know/>

<http://www.tecca.com/columns/how-to-facebook-privacy-settings/>